EXPERIENCE

As an Illustrator, Sean has a diverse style. He loves the challenge of style mimicry, but also conjures up his own styles; the style best for the job. His subject matter varies upon the project naturally, enjoying artwork related to music, accompanying editorial articles, and packaging graphics.

As a Photographer, Sean's shooting includes public festivals, gala fundraisers, product shots, location scouting, and images to support editorial writing. Photo retouching is another asset, using a sharp eye for detail and years of experience has him capable in high resolution print projects.

As a Designer, Sean makes use of open space and tight typefaces. His design skills run the gamut of both web and print. His designs have been published for web, within emails and mobile devices, posters, direct mailers, stickers, and packaging.

As a Writer, Sean is an editorial writer and copywriter that enjoys the challenge of keeping readers engaged. He is comfortable covering events and talking with participants to get quotes that will be remembered. His copy writing can keep content engaging and effective.

As a Manager & Director, Sean seeks out the best experience for the end user. His technique is that of a team member and respects individuals skills and interests; matching persons with tasks they will excel at. His editorial eye and experience in different styles fits perfectly as an Art Director on any project. Sean's divergent thinking as a Marketing Manager, finds leads and partnerships that others commonly overlook.
